

Dear Hiring Manager,

Let's get straight to it: I'm a multilingual AI enthusiast with a knack for making tech both smarter and friendlier. Your mission to build inclusive intelligence? I'm on board—and ready to bring a dash of fun to the mix.

- Python, SQL, and cloud architecture—my toolkit for building and bridging worlds.
- Content localization and CRM optimization—because robots need people skills, too.
- At SMU, I made troubleshooting guides so simple, my grandma could ace them. Support calls? Down 15%.

I've created Spanish-language training, designed annotation tools, and turned technical content into engaging, culturally-aware experiences. I believe AI should get the joke in every language—and help everyone feel welcome at the table (even if it's a virtual one).

- Passionate about inclusive, multilingual AI—think cosmic translator, minus the spacesuit.
- Ready for the 9:00am - 5:30pm PST schedule and remote collaboration. I promise my internet connection is faster than my coffee-making skills.

Let's chat. I'll bring technical know-how, cultural savvy, and one or two legendary dad jokes to xAI's mission. Thanks for considering my application!
